Dedicated to...

Dr. Elmer Hertel

He has been many men in a decade of service to Wartburg College: head of the Biology Department, full-time instructor, athletic coach, director of athletics and many activities beyond the sphere of his school. In all of these, Dr. Elmer Hertel has been unassuming but thorough.

Among the Student Body he has assembled many friends, only to watch them go out, much of his thoughts and knowledge carried with them. He is like a man walking forward on a mission, something useful in his hand, held tightly. To whomever he meets, he knows, when the time is right, he will show his possession. Some look but do not see—he smiles at the glimmers betraying their thoughts, and passes on, for some will view with wonder and regard, this gift, and their searching eyes will look back to remember the kind bearer.

Those who have known Dr. Hertel—and they are many—will best verify this appreciation we of the FORTRESS staff bestow on him this spring. We gladly dedicate this book of college life, and all the semblance of Wartburg that it represents, to him. The real picture of a man is seldom known, but for this passing glimpse, we can only say, "Thank you."

President C.H. Becker

...a Great Man

They called him a great man. I began to wonder, what makes a man great? And so I followed in his steps that day.

Brisk and determined were the steps that led him to his office early in the day—brisk and determined, but yet they halted to greet the students who passed by.

Anxious and supporting were his steps as he counseled with students—anxious and supporting, for this was the work he loved, and much of his time was spent in this way.

Impressive and advising were the steps he took as he attended a faculty meeting and a faculty committee meeting. Here his advice was often sought, and he was willing to give, so that Wartburg College might continue to grow.

Firm yet hesitant were the steps that led him to duties away from the campus—hesitant, for this was the place he loved.

Loving and sincere were the steps that led him to spend precious moments with his family.

Humble and reverent were the steps which led him again and again to the Throne of God in prayer. This is the path his steps often trod—this was a path well-worn.

Now I know why he is called a great man. The man is truly great who follows “in His steps.”

PRESIDENT AND Mrs. Becker and Kathy pause at the end of a busy day for family devotions.

Forming College Policies

Dr. G.J. Neumann

With his great love for literature and interest in the welfare of his students, Dr. G. J. Neumann remains one of the traditions of Wartburg. College vice president and head of the Division of Languages and Literature, he is an inspiration and a ray of hope to both students and faculty.

Mr. H.C. Engelbrecht

With Herb Engelbrecht the burdens of being assistant to the President, which includes business managership, never seem to quench the friendly "Hi" or fade the gracious smile.

After hearing his annual inspirational talk at the Homecoming pep rally, we know that his real home is in the Wartburg family.

Faculty . . . Expansion in Academic Sphere

EYES ON the future, fingers on the pulse of the present, guided by the wisdom of the past, Dr. J. O. Chellevold fulfills his duties as dean of faculty.

Expansion—a word becoming synonymous with the Wartburg College campus—is also evident in the academic sphere of the college. The new Fine Arts Center, fifteen additional office spaces for faculty members, the library expansion, another biology laboratory, transferring of the Business Administration Department to a larger area in Old Main and the expansion of the arts-engineering curriculum, all point to activity and industry on the scholastic scene.

Three members of the faculty were promoted. Dr. Edwin Sandberg, assistant professor of English, became associate professor; Norman Johansen, formerly instructor, now ranks as assistant professor in physical education; and Dr. Herbert Max, former associate professor in education, now ranks as professor.

Four new faculty members were added to the staff, bringing the total to fifty full-time members plus four part-time. New this year were Mr. James C. Erricson, assistant professor of English; Mr. Melvin L. Kramer, instructor in business administration; Dr. Lloyd G. Carr, assistant professor of biology; and Mr. Gordon J. Bahr, instructor in Greek and Christianity. Two of these newcomers, Dr. Carr and Mr. Bahr, have studied abroad.

Axel Bundgaard, returning as head of the Physical Education Department after a year's absence, became athletic director, while the Greek Department expanded with Dr. A. E. Haefner returning as full-time head of the department.

Another noteworthy fact to the credit of the Wartburg faculty is that fourteen of their number attended graduate schools during the past summer.

The call of adventure abroad was heeded by Dr. E. A. Hovdesven of the Music Department. His travels during the past summer took him to England, Ireland and Norway.

JOHN HILTNER

Latin, Philosophy; Midland College, A.B.; Nebraska U., A.M., Ph.D.

Man's concept of his existence, the principles regulating the universe, the ultimate reality — these philosophy seeks. Integrated with philosophy is Christianity, the greatest answer to man's search for God, the basis of his existence.

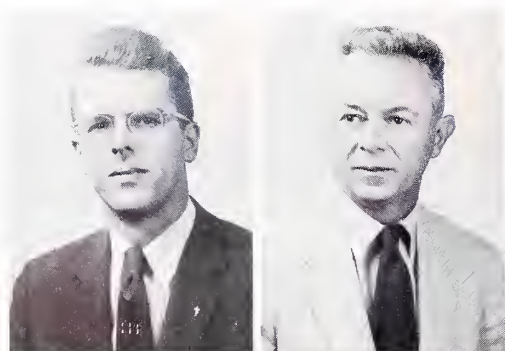

As a church school Wartburg places special emphasis on her Christianity Department. Through it, many are prepared for full-time church occupations, but equally important is the Christian background and spiritual strength it gives students destined for other professions.

EDWIN A. SCHICK

Christianity, Greek; Wartburg College, B.A.; Wartburg Seminary, B.D.; Princeton Seminary, Th.M.

KARL SCHMIDT

Christianity; Wartburg College, B.A.; Wartburg Seminary, B.D.; M.S.T.

To accomplish this, the department offers courses dealing with mankind and religion, Christian doctrines, Bible study, history of the church and the practical applications of religious faith.

Improvements in the department this year included the addition of a three-hour course in Christian ethics, new office space and an additional faculty member, Mr. Gordon Bahr. The Rev. Edwin Schick, college chaplain, assumed duties as head of all religious activities on campus.

COURTSHIP AND marriage problems occupy the attention of this student panel before the Christian social living class.

TECHNIQUE OF magazine production is explained to members of Miss Wolff's magazine feature writing class at the Waverly Publishing Company.

A source of inspiration—a source of knowledge—a source of human understanding—is found by Wartburg students in their courses in languages and literature. Guided by Dr. G. J. Neumann as division head, students learn to communicate—to write both creatively and factually, to appreciate good literature, to speak intelligently and to have command of foreign languages.

In this division culture and skills are imparted which will never be forgotten or lost in the march of time. Its benefits and new insights will always remain with the student.

Journalism, literature, modern and foreign languages are responsible for imparting to students inspiration, knowledge and human understanding.

Both the Biology and Physical Education Departments have been expanding this year.

The Biology Department, headed by Dr. Elmer Hertel, has added another laboratory plus additional equipment to aid in its preparation of young men and women entering teaching and other professional fields. The department has also expanded in personnel with the addition of Dr. Lloyd Carr to its staff.

The Physical Education Department has been enlarged with the return of Mr. Ax Bundgaard from graduate study. This department aids students in maintaining good physical health while attending college, affords every student the opportunity for vigorous exercise and wholesome recreation and offers courses for prospective teachers in physical education.

A FIELD TRIP provides opportunity for Mr. Hubbard's Nature Study Class to break the classroom routine.

Concerned with the wide variety of problems that face the members of our culture today, the Division of Social Sciences functioned successfully for another year under the experienced direction of Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg.

Accounting, business administration, economics, history, home economics, political science, social work, and sociology all fit into place as integral parts of this college division.

The Division of Social Sciences not only prepares students for occupations in the various fields they have chosen, but it also teaches its members how to face the complexities that are found in contemporary life.

Mr. Melvin Kramer joined the division faculty this year as head of the Department of Business Education. He taught upper division economics and business courses.

With the opening of the new Fine Arts Center at the beginning of the school year, which took the Music and Art Departments from Old Main, the Business Administration Department left its old home in Luther Hall and moved to new quarters in Old Main.

THE MOVEMENT of Christianity is traced on the map by Dr. Ottersberg in a history class.

The progress of today's technological society falls back on the Division of Physical Sciences. Whether man searches for new developments in atomic power, jet propulsion or modern architectural wonders, physical sciences provide him with the knowledge he needs to go forward.

Dr. A. W. Swensen directs the functioning of this important division, which includes the Chemistry Department, the Physics, Engineering and Mathematics Departments.

Pointing its students to the future, this division hopes to give a fundamental knowledge of physical problems that will raise questions leading the students to go forward in their own research.

With another successful year recorded, the men of physical sciences still do not rest. Perhaps their path is the key to tomorrow.

EXPERIMENTAL APPARATUS is explained by Dr. Swensen to Ruth Ann Bauer and Annelle Flesner during an organic chemistry lab.

WAITING ANXIOUSLY for the results of a physics lab experiment are Jack Anderson, Professor Azbell and Andy Foster.

Fulfilling the great demand for good teachers and future leaders brings the Education-Psychology Division onto the stage of Wartburg's curriculum. This division consists of the Education, Psychology and Library Departments. Under the leadership of Dr. Herbert J. Max, this division provides professional education for teachers and familiarizes other professional students with the current educational ideas and functions of public and parochial schools.

The Education Department instructs Wartburg's future teachers in the modern methods and techniques of teaching. Wartburg students are given the opportunity to apply their knowledge and ability in teaching the P's and Q's to the children in the public elementary and high schools as well as Christian day schools in the vicinity of Wartburg College.

The Library Department has become the hub of all departments by providing the key to all knowledge to whoever seeks it.

MISS LOHN finds the library an appropriate place to hold her library science class.

"IT GOES like this," explains LeRoy Oberlander to Emil Kuebler during a practice session for visual aids.

It was the year 1207. The scene: a medieval castle in the rugged terrain of the Thuringian countryside of Germany. The courtyards of the castle are filled with musicians, actors, artists of all sort, for this is the Wartburg Castle, and it is the time of the famous Saengerkrieg or minstrel contest. The arts fill the air.

The year was 1956. The scene: the Wartburg again. Only this time it was Wartburg College. No Saengerkrieg this time, but rather a music and art festival marking the dedication of the new Fine Arts Center at Wartburg.

This was only one facet of the activity of the Fine Arts Division this year. Drama filled the stage of the Little Theater, accompanied by the staccato sound of debate.

Recitals, concerts, art exhibits . . . organ, vocal, piano . . . Picasso, Goya, Rembrandt . . . Bach, Stravinsky, Chopin . . . art of varied skill and variety. With a new environment for two departments of this division, Fine Arts received an impetus and added recognition to the departments stressing the finer things of life.

There may be no wandering minstrels in medieval castles, but the arts continue to flourish and to grow at this Wartburg.

Seniors

SENIOR CLASS Officers, Eleanor Hieronymus, secretary; Harry Hinrichs, president; Dick Larson, vice president; Clarence Zwetzig, treasurer, find discussion of the class projects slightly humorous.

...to the Strains of "Pomp and Circumstance"

From the "Wearing of the Green" to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," another graduation class files into the annals of Wartburg College.

Never-to-be-forgotten are the dorm get-togethers, all-night cram sessions, beloved professors and the athletic defeats as well as victories.

For some, roommates who had greeted each other for the first time as freshmen, remained throughout all four years as roommates. However, many left the ranks as two-year grads, while some transferred to other schools, joined the military forces or sought other roommates.

Graduates of '57 can well recall the days of the former college Den, Wartburg with a single women's dormitory, the North Hall cafeteria and music practice sessions in Old Main.

These memories remain outstanding, and there is that innate desire to live it all over again, from the days of the green beanie to the orange and black Ivy League hats, the fad produced by the Senior Class Project.

Leaving only the class memorial as a living commemoration, seniors will pass unnoticed into the future, but fond memories will linger on.

Commencement . . . 1957 . . . the beginning of a new era in the lives of Wartburg graduates.

...Last Year of Undergraduate Classes

JOHN SOLEM and Don Oberdorfer read their lines in one of the Speech Department's play production courses.

EVEN CHEMISTRY can be amusing—at least it appears that Dr. Carr, Lyle Quandt and Carl Schwartz are finding it so.

Outstanding in leadership, academic standing and extracurricular participation, fifteen seniors were chosen by the student body to represent Wartburg in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This directory, published each spring, includes a brief biographical sketch of leading American college and university students.

FORTRESS editor, Dick Larson, is a liberal arts senior who has served as president of both the Young Republicans Club and the Ushers Club. He is also vice president of the senior class. Eugene Van Driel, pre-law student, has also been active in these two clubs. He was Homecoming chairman this year and has been both president and vice president of the Business Student Association. A third "Who's Who" personality is Wayne Weissenbuehler, a pre-theological student. Weissenbuehler has been especially active in the Big-Brother and Big-Sister Organization, Chi Rho and Student Senate.

Both the student body president and vice president are represented in this directory. President Don Altmann has been active in all phases of student government, as well as in Chi Rho and World Affairs Forum. Vice President Ed Schneider and Senior Class President Harry Hinrichs have served in Chi Rho, Choir and Student Senate. All three are arts-seminary students.

Four women are included among these fifteen. All are majoring in elementary education and belong to Future Teachers Association and Women's Athletic Association. Helen Schwerin is Women's Co-ordinating Board president, '57 FORTRESS queen and a cheerleader. Twins Joan Oltman De-Weerth and Jean Oltman Margheim have also been campus queens. Both girls have been sports queens and Homecoming attendants, and Joan is a former FORTRESS queen. Jean has been a WAA president, and both have been in choir and student government. The president of FTA, Carolyn Adix, has been in Wartburg Choir, band and Pi Sigma.

Physical education majors Maynard Midtgaard and Art Margheim represent Wartburg athletics in "Who's Who." Midtgaard is "W" Club president and has lettered in baseball and basketball, whereas Margheim was football captain and lettered in football, basketball and baseball.

Three more organization presidents, all pre-theological students, conclude the list of seniors. Don Oberdorfer is president of World Affairs Forum and active in KWAR, Alpha Psi Omega, Chi Rho and the Trumpet, while John Beem, Chi Rho prexy, has been on the Lutheran Student Council. He was president of his class both his freshman and sophomore years. Milt Ost took over the presidency for the junior year. Ost was band president a year ago, Homecoming chairman last year and has been a member of Ushers Club, Chi Rho, Hans Sachs and "W" Club.

...Only One Year Remaining...

"Wonder what he's doing now." "I wonder where she is." "I sure miss all those kids that were two-year teachers." These have been traditional words of Wartburg juniors looking back over their old yearbooks, and they rang true again this year.

But the majority of the juniors were back on campus enjoying a busy year, both academically and socially. This is the year the collegian seems to find classes getting harder and time going too fast to participate in all the things he'd like to.

The junior has many memories of the year. He watched initiation from an unbiased position for the first time, helped build the Homecoming float, put on the Christmas party, where he enjoyed the reading of Dr. Neumann, and of course there was the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Then came the terrifying moment. The junior looked ahead and realized his wonderful stay at Wartburg had but one year remaining. However, with a host of accomplishments behind him, the junior foresaw the last year an even greater one at Wartburg.

Differing in Academic Interest

"ACCORDING TO the books this is supposed to work," say Bob and Con Bracklein as they set up equipment for a physics experiment.

WITH A DRAWING behind him, John Wilker delivers his speech on the structure of the bow at a speech class in the Little Theater.

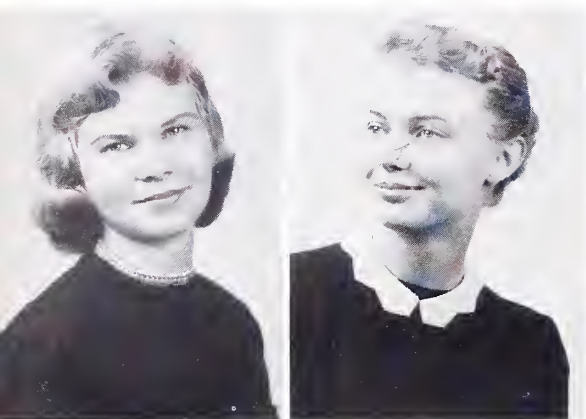

AS HEAD of the Writing Laboratory, Mrs. A. E. Haefner counsels with juniors who have not met the requirements for graduation as set up by the English Department.

"THIS IS THE beginning of the Waverly paper," explains Mr. Hankner, print shop foreman, to Ron Korfmacher, Duane Boehmke, Gwenn Mueller and Bob Fries, members of a reporting class.

DOLORES LARSON takes advantage of Santa's visit to the Junior Class Christmas party to make sure he remembered the contents of her letter.

Sophomores

AT THE CLIMAX of the initiation activities the Sophomore Class officers Ruby Hinsman, secretary; Harvey Jaeger, treasurer; Jim Schwarz, president; and John Meyer, vice president, stop for a moment in Knights gymnasium.

...Educating the Freshies

The opening of the fall semester found the sophomores full of ambition and zest. "Now it's our turn," was the cry of this peppy class as its members educated the freshies during initiation.

Wide-eyed freshmen fear no class so much as they do the sophomores the first few weeks of school, and this year was no exception. The official welcoming committee was even kind enough to offer flattering green hats for sale and set up training rules aimed to help the newcomers get the feel of campus life. The initiation period culminated in the traditional Kangaroo Kort, which freshmen entered with trembling fear, but returned from with many good laughs and memories.

Outstanding were the individual contributions of the class members in campus activities. The class proudly claims the "W" Club's fall sports queen, Lois Striepe.

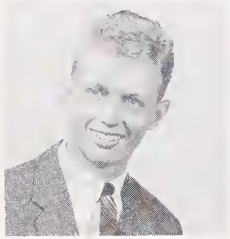

In Memoriam

We dedicate this section as a tribute to the memory of Miss Frances Danker of Keystone, Iowa, who met sudden death from an uncommon illness on August 20, 1956.

A faithful member of the Lutheran Church and of the Wartburg family, she was enrolled as a two-year elementary teacher and planned to return this year. During her freshman year, Fran actively participated in FTA, WAA and band, leaving lasting impressions with all who knew her and worked with her.

Rating High in Classroom

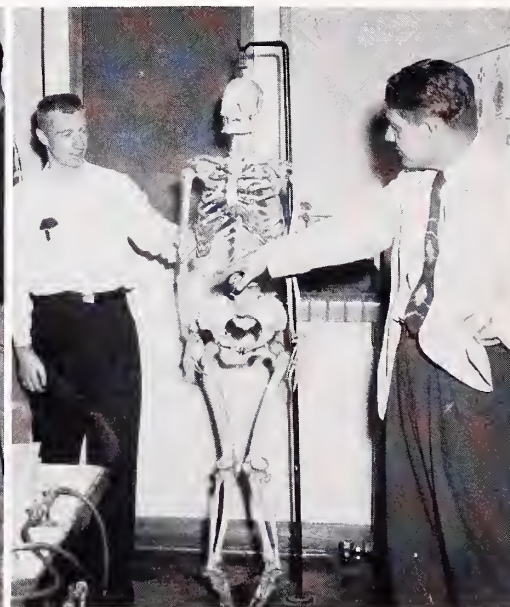

SPRING SETS in and classes move out as the Rev. Karl Schmidt lectures to a Christianity class.

IF ASKED what she thinks of this particular P.E. class, Ruth Ann Bauer would probably reply, "It's right down my alley."

JIM SCHWARZ, chairman of the Sophomore Initiation Committee, discusses with members the "Wearin' of the Green."

"DEM BONES, Dem bones—Gonna walk around" . . . No, not a music class, but Dr. Petri delivering a lecture in Biology lab.

Nymann, Roger Wrage, John Wilker, Roland Steege, Carl Anderson.

... Some Faces Familiar—Some New

Familiar faces which had been absent for a period, as well as completely new faces, were both included among the twenty-nine new students who enrolled for the second semester.

Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Kansas, South Dakota and Minnesota were the states represented by the newcomers.

After their introduction at the semester's opening convo, the newcomers quickly found their places, both academically and in the field of activities, thus becoming members of the Wartburg family.

Freshmen

...New Faces, New Rules, New Problems

"Button, Freshie!"

This greeting hailed every recent 1956 high school senior as he joined the ranks of the Wartburg College Knights.

The first week brought with it new faces, new rules and many problems. The most perplexing problem of that week was registration day, a time of great decision.

At their first class meeting the freshmen elected Larry Stumme, Paul Rothfusz, Rosalie Kurtz and Mary Ellen Wilke to lead them through their first year of college life.

Initiation was trying for these green freshmen, but they survived and look back on it as weeks of fun.

The end of initiation brought forth Homecoming. The freshman float under the theme of "Work! For the Knights Are Coming" placed first, and this honor made their first Homecoming complete.

They labored at their books as they never had in high school and still found semester grades that didn't equal their grades during prep days.

They tried out for the basketball team or the school drama and found competition rough, but they established themselves as successes.

Now with the first year of college behind them, they look with eagerness to the following years at Wartburg.

FRANTICALLY TAKING notes, freshmen learn of the wonders of nature from Mr. Hubbard in a nature study laboratory.

RIGHT ANGLES and triangles can be confusing as is proven to these pre-engineers in Mr. Wiederanders' mechanical drawing class.

JUDGING BY facial expressions, here's proof that history isn't necessarily a dull subject. A jovial Dr. Ottersberg presides.

Classes Ranging from History to Biology

WITH EYES ON the paper or on the drill book, members of this typing class strive for perfection and increased speed.

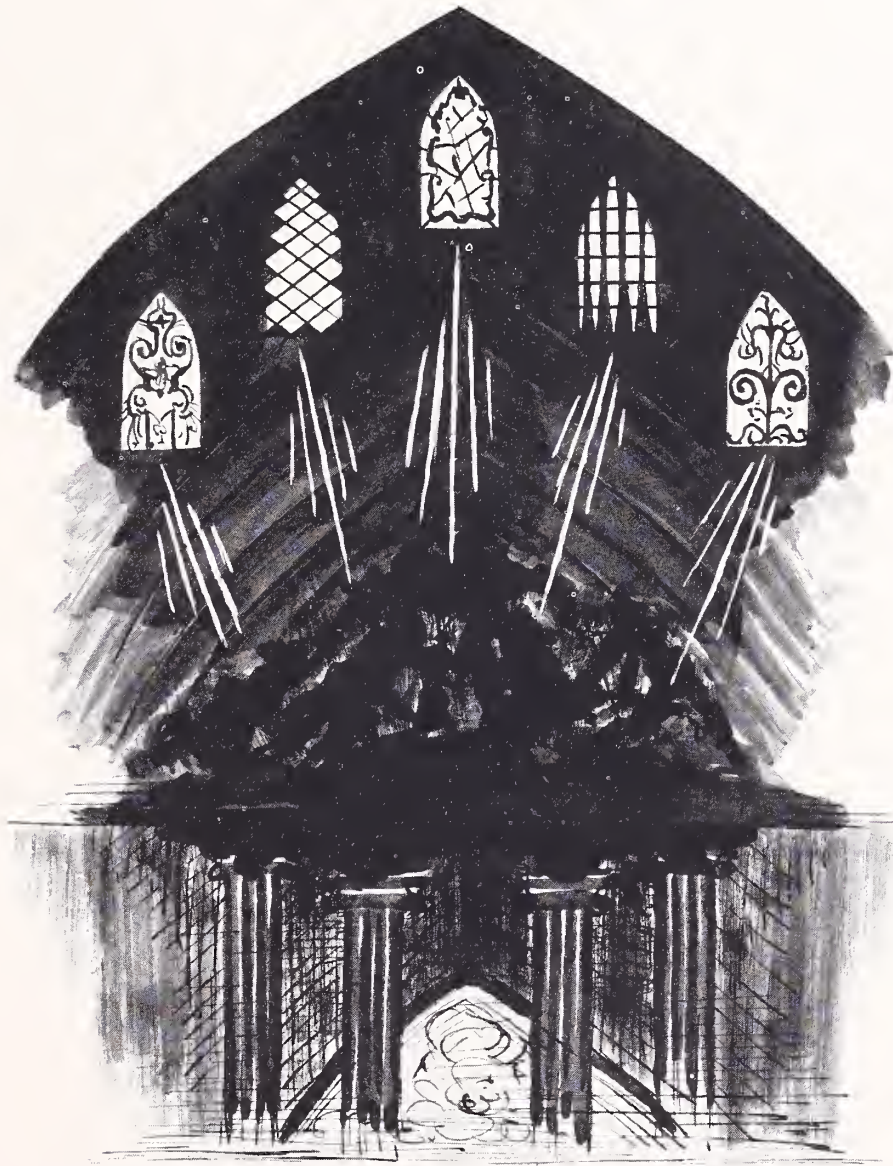

Top Left: BOB MAYER, Wartburg's answer to Michelangelo, works in the studio of the Fine Arts Center.

Left: NATURE STUDY students hit the wide open spaces on their many field trips supervised by Mr. Fred Hubbard.

Organizations

And there are varieties of working, but it is the same God who inspires them all in everyone.

—I Corinthians 12:6

Councils . . .Regulating Activities

Wartburg Hall Council—Front row: D. Sheets, treasurer; M. Buss, president; Mrs. Tennie Wuebbens, hall director; R. Dhein, vice president;

M. Clark, secretary. Back row: C. Joseph, A. Schutter, G. Scrivner, K. Edgar, O. Deines, H. Boehme, R. Bock, M. Haibeck, D. Wilke.

“Where everybody is somebody” seems to summarize life at Wartburg. The dorm councils, along with the Women’s Co-ordinating Board, endeavor to maintain this objective as they strive to handle problems in a manner which will make dorm life a cherished memory for every Wartburger.

Each dormitory has a council of student representatives who plan activities and execute specific dormitory rules. The Women’s Co-ordinating Board unites the interests and activities of all Wartburg women. In the eyes of these student-governing groups who endeavor to meet the student’s need, Every Wartburger IS Somebody.

... Governing the Dorms

CENTENNIAL HALL COUNCIL — Lois Huth, president; A. Parker, treasurer; Mrs. Rose LaBahn, hall director; M. Boicourt, vice president; S.

Behrens, B. Baer, E. Alt, D. Phillips, D. Woestehoff, F. Froehlich, A. Arends, Dolores Larson, J. Havemann, C. Rogge.

Student Senate . . . Progress in Campus Life

“Look! White tablecloths! Place mats! Centerpieces!” exclaims a typical Wartburger observing the work of Student Senate in action as it decorates the cafeteria for such holidays as Homecoming, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Meeting problems and making progress in every phase of student life, Senators discussed and debated student activities, welfare pertaining to living conditions and campus life, academic life and relationships with the faculty, community and church.

Innovations this year included a

Parents Tea, which took place during Homecoming weekend and at which parents were welcomed to “open house” in the Student Memorial Union as a Parents Night.

Student Senate has also seen it possible to introduce on-campus social dancing after obtaining the support of the Student Body and the approval of the Board of Regents.

WORLD AFFAIRS FORUM

World Affairs Forum

Increase your interest in world affairs in a comfortable atmosphere of enlightening talks and impromptu discussion, enhanced by the companionship of the traditional cup of coffee.

Though seldom in the spotlight of campus activity, World Affairs Forum at Wartburg is a continually active society. Composed entirely of interested students, this society continually furthers its interest in the world about with outside available speakers and foreign students on campus, such as Lee Yang, Waverly resident.

Debate Club

Beating about the bush is not for members of the Debate Club. They're either for it or against it.

This year's intercollegiate debate question was: "Resolved, That the United States should discontinue economic aid to all foreign countries."

Besides having local debates with Upper Iowa and Iowa State Teachers College, Mr. Robert Smith's club got invitations from such distant schools as Concordia in Minnesota, Midland in Nebraska and Emporia State in Kansas.

Castle Tales . . . Short Story, Poetry, Review

Castle Tales, campus literary magazine, found its way once again into the hands of its readers. Decreasing its outside measurements but increasing its content and page numbers, the magazine came another step toward the goal of a professional-looking publication.

Second annual literary contest, sponsored by the English Department, drew nearly two hundred entries in short story, poetry, review and sketch divisions. Twenty-five dollars in prizes was won by students in the literary, photography and art divisions.

Expanded office space allowed the staffers to have freer rein in their production work and made it easier for them to work with less interruptions from the outside.

The Tales finally found its way into the black column of the ledger as its financial status received a boost through increased student enrollment and lower production costs.

Mr. James Erricson, a newcomer to the English Department, acted as the adviser while John Polis, last year's FORTRESS editor, handled the editorial duties.

READING GALLEY proof for the '57 Castle Tales are John Polis, Delores Garrett and Ed Schaley.

Fortress . . . Consuming Countless Hours

Gerlt, W. Gast, M. Nass, G. Mueller, G. Weers, G. Goeman, J. Walters. Back row: B. Thiem, R. Fries, J. Dettmann, E. Schaley, P. Haglund, L. Remmers, M. Oebser.

Twelve months ago preliminary plans began to be made for the 1957 FORTRESS. Month after month, the FORTRESS continued to develop—the publishing contract was let, the dummy was prepared, and then came the actual production of the pages.

Throughout the year there has been excellent cooperation from the staff. Many hours were sacrificed by the staffers, so that the 1957 FORTRESS might become a reality. Thanks go to those many members who have helped to make this book a success.

Special thanks go to Leonard Flachman and Larry Everett, associate editors, who shared editorial problems and duties and who worked long hours with me. Finances were ably handled by Carolyn Joseph, business manager. The excellent photography throughout the book is due to the efforts of Wayne Krueger, George Weers and the Hollett Studio. John Solem contributed his talents in producing art work of exceptional quality, and the copy was capably handled by Bill Melvin.

HELEN SCHWERIN is crowned queen of the '57 FORTRESS by Dick Larson, editor, while her escort, Leonard Flachman, looks on.

The greatest thanks go to Miss Margaret Wolff, adviser. Her patience in checking copy and pages, as well as guidance in the meeting of problems, deserves a thanks which words cannot express.

Thanks to all who did their part in making this '57 FORTRESS a success.

Dick Larson, editor

The Wartburg Trumpet

WORKING LATE into the night, Cy Wainscott, editor, and Harold Kurtz, managing editor, complete the pasted up dummy for tomorrow's paper.

... Student Weekly with 2,500 Readers

Lights burn late and typewriters stamp, word after word, onto sheets of yellow copy paper. To the cacophonous chorus of these clattering machines add the droning hum of conversation as instructions are given, stories assigned, headlines written and ads drawn up, and you will have a partial picture of the flood of activity that is climaxed each Saturday afternoon when the Trumpet, student weekly, begins to find its way into the hands of from 1,800 to 2,500 readers.

This is only a partial picture, however. Under the guidance of Editor in Chief Cy Wainscott more than fifty staffers labor weekly gathering information, taking pictures, writing copy, filing stories and hundreds of other tasks necessary to bring the latest Wartburg news to students and other friends.

TRUMPET—Front row: M. Nass, co-circulation manager; O. Goldammer, co-circulation manager; F. Weihmuller, business manager; Miss Margaret Wolff, adviser; C. Wainscott, editor; J. Roever, news editor; W. Krueger, photographer; E. Van

... Group of Hardworking Journalists

Journalistic roads at Wartburg point upward to the local Beta Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national journalism fraternity.

Once again, APG published the essential student directory, first project of the year.

First semester neophytes—in other words, pledges—helped serve the annual Homecoming breakfast for actives and alumni at the home of Miss Margaret Wolff, BD adviser. More alumni contact is maintained each Christmas through the printing of a newsletter. Harold Kurtz did the editing for the letter this year, assisted by Duane Shroeder and typed by Marsha Arhart.

Spring activities included a reception in the Publications House for journalist enthusiasts as a climax on High School Visiting Day, May 1.

An annual Press Banquet included recognition of hard-working journalists as a finale to another busy school year.

LEONARD FLACHMAN, Ed Schaley and John Polis leisurely assemble the annual APG Christmas newsletter in the Public Relations work room.

KWAR . . . Student Operated Radio Station

M. Eden, D. Flanders, G. Mueller. Back row: D. Stuepfert, N. Cramer, R. Korfmacher, K. Lunde, R. Johnson, J. Roever, D. Horneck, L. Everett.

A point of the finger, and a student is on the air at KWAR-FM. Many varieties of programs are broadcasted from 5 p. m. to midnight Monday through Friday and from 1 to 3 p. m. on Sunday. Anything from jazz to classical music is to be heard from KWAR-FM.

Last fall it was made possible to broadcast directly from the football stadium by remote control through the use of the telephone line. All sports activities that take place, either in the Knights gymnasium or on the football or track field are broadcasted.

Hard work and fun is the reward of all who work at the station.

KWAR DISC-Jockey, Bob Loslo, fills in as announcer between programs on the college radio station.

Pi Beta Epsilon

PI BETA EPSILON—R. Loslo, J. Roever, A. Bice, G. Dexter, B. Friedrich, president; G. Volberding, C. Wainscott, E. Wick.

...Interest in Radio Arts

Beta is the chapter on this campus of the national honorary and professional radio arts fraternity. This fraternity was founded in 1937 at Drake University by Edwin G. Barrett, head of the Radio Department there.

Its purposes are to bring together those who are interested in radio and television, to stimulate interest in these fields and to provide better broadcasting on the college level.

To join the local chapter, a student is required to work in the field of radio for one year in two areas. The areas are programing, continuity, engineering, news and sports. An oral examination must be passed by the student on these areas, with stress on the two special areas. A practical examination must then be passed with a pledgeship period following. The money the members raise supplements the money allotted to KWAR-FM for newer and better equipment.

WHERE TO FIND it when you want to find it is the problem that faces Evon Wick, Arlow Bice and Bruce Friedrich as they bring the record file up to date.

Wartburg Players . . . Active Theatrical Group . . .

WARTBURG PLAYERS—Front row: D. Seifert, M. Neumann, H. Flessner, treasurer; R. Loslo, president; C. Wainscott, I. Feldmann, R. Zehr. Second row: L. Pichelmeyer, G. Mueller, K. Frenz,

B. Foshe, D. Oberdorfer, K. Koob, D. Gilbert, J. Skibbe. Back row: R. Brodersen, R. Fries, Janet Diebner, L. Becker, J. Roever, D. Klepzig, R. Korf-macher, J. Pape, J. Tehven.

“Did you see those clowns in the Homecoming Parade? They were a riot and a half.” Clown costumes were only a part of a great store of theatrical equipment purchased from the Sanger Costume Co. of Clinton, now out of business. Future Wartburg Players may equip themselves with any sort of prop from wooden shoes to an elephant head.

Wartburg Players is an active theatrical group for both the performers and the stage crews. Anyone who is interested in any phase of the theater is welcome to join its ranks. Many of the performers for the college plays are from the organization, and a select few go on to further interest in dramatics in the local chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary drama fraternity.

Monthly meetings of Wartburg Players lead to further education in many aspects of theater work. All this is under the capable guidance of Charles Dickson, head of the Speech Department.

WITH ANOTHER Players' production written up as a big success, Mr. Charles Dickson turns to concentrate his efforts on his other work.

RON KORFMACHER, as Judge Gaffney, and Melba Neumann, as Myrtle Simmons, are taken aback by the account of Mrs. Veta Simmons—Kathryn Koob—of her treatment at the rest home in the Wartburg Players' production of "Harvey."

UNCLE ELWOOD P. Dowd—Louis Becker—admires a portrait of himself and his six-foot-one-inch pooka friend Harvey.

... Open to All Interested

MARTIN, THE shoemaker—Jon Tehven—patches up differences between the old Apple Woman (Mary Zellmer) and Ilya (Lois Pichelmeyer).

HEATING THEIR COFFEE with matches, Bob Loslo, as Didi, and Don Oberdorfer, as Gogo, pass the time while "Waiting for Godot."

Alpha Psi Omega

ALPHA PSI OMEGA—G. Herbener, secretary-treasurer; J. Roever, president; Mr. Charles Dickson, adviser; D. Oberdorfer, vice president; R. Fries, R. Loslo, Mrs. C. Dickson, J. Strudthoff, G. Volberding.

...Developing Campus Theater

“On stage, everybody.” This is the call of Alpha Psi Omega, campus honorary dramatics fraternity.

These drama lovers again centered their lives around the Little Theater, and for them this building almost became a second home.

Developing the campus theater is the main purpose of the members, who not only appear on the stage as actors, but participate behind the scenes giving invaluable technical assistance.

Once again, Alpha Psi Omega members enjoyed preparing their own meal at their monthly meetings held in the fraternity room at the Theater. Once again, the group sponsored a children’s play for Waverly youngsters. So, “On stage, everybody.”

WITH FACES betraying a mixture of emotions, the characters in the Alpha Psi Omega play “Jack and the Beanstalk” view the corpse of the giant.

MENC

The production of "The Telephone" and scenes from operas proved to be the high lights of the local MENC year.

Attended during the year besides the local meetings was the convention of the Iowa Music Education Association and the North-Central convention of Music Educators National Con-

Knights Chorale

Singing purely for the joy of singing is the purpose of the volunteer Knights Chorale. Its busy season included the Wartburg Christmas Concert, a musical program at the Episcopal Church at which the Chorale was featured, convocation programs, services at St. Paul's and the Episcopal Church and concerts in churches surrounding Waverly.

Wartburg Choir . . . Ministry of Music . . .

Dedication of the Fine Arts Center . . . The reunion choir of members from the past twenty years . . . A tour through Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin . . . Yes, this year was a landmark in the history of the Wartburg Choir.

It was also a year of hard work . . . Practice every day from five to six o'clock . . . Drill . . . Drill . . . Always striving for perfection . . . Sectional rehearsals, where the rough spots were polished and repolished . . . Then more practice.

All was aimed toward singing to the glory of God, for the choir's mission is the ministry of music. Those who hear it can feel this, and their hearts are filled with praise to the Father.

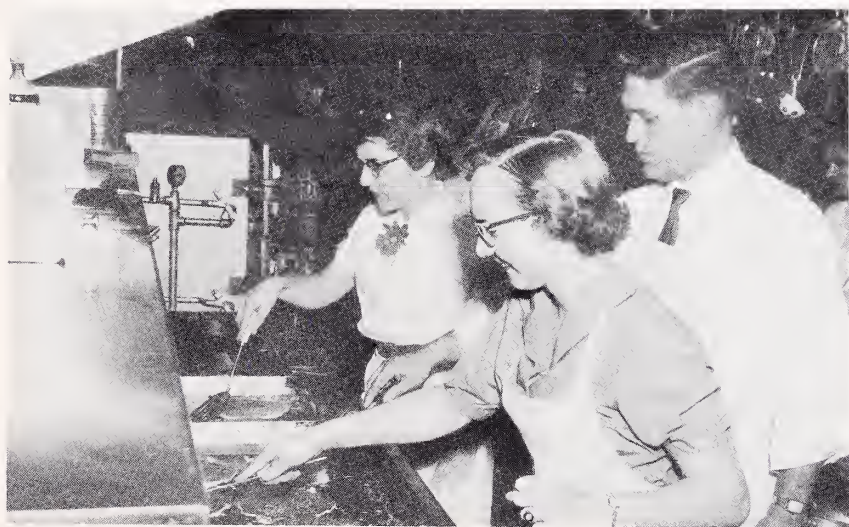

Yes, it was a big year for Wartburg Choir, but so will next year be . . . and the year after that. Always striving . . . always reaching toward God.

DR. LIEHMOHN directs one section of the choir to attain perfection before combining the voices.

SOLOISTS KAREN Dettmer, Ron Mastin and Sharon Folkerts approach the Fine Arts Center for an afternoon practice session.

...Reaching Above

JOAN HILLEMAN, Marlene Haibeck and Dave Linkey prepare pancakes for the choir-sponsored pancake supper.

LEAVING THE FINE Arts Center after classes are Sharon Folkerts, Maurine Nissen and Bernice Schulz, members of the girls' trio.

"LET'S TRY it again," directs "Doc" Hovdesven to his singers.

Castle Singers . . .

Tour Through Iowa, Illinois, Indiana

Castle Singers began its year by participating in the Music and Art Festival with the premiere of Dr. E. A. Hovdesven's (their director's) work "Out of This Prairie," adapted from Carl Sandburg's poem "Haze." This music was especially written for the dedication festival and featured chorus, wind instruments and percussion.

Castle Singers furthered its service to the college community by participating in convocation exercises, Homecoming services and in the Christmas concert. This completed the first semester's work.

During the second semester the group again appeared at convocation, baccalaureate services and on Senior Day in conjunction with the Wartburg Symphony Orchestra.

TOP BRASS of Castle Singers is the executive committee composed of Joan Boughton, librarian; Vivian Rudolph, secretary; Ruth Ann Bauer, recorder; LeRoy Remmers, chaplain; Con Bracklein, sergeant-at-arms; Dave Nelson, vice president; and Bob Geizler, president.

STOPPING REHEARSAL, Dr. Hovdesven, beloved director of Castle Singers, points out measures where improvement can be made.

MAPPING OUT the spring tour through Illinois, Indiana and Iowa are Arlow Bicc, Bob Geizler and Emil Blobaum.

"WITH A VOICE of singing declare ye, tell this . . ." Soloists finding a challenge in this command are Gretchen Utke, Janet Werner, Georgia Mikes, Sharon Hildebrandt, Joan Boughton, Con Bracklein, Bob Geizler and Don Claussen.

Wartburg College Band . . .

BAND—Front row: F. Westendorf, F. Dettmann, Gloria Meyer, S. Jacobsen, E. Goldenman. Second row: D. Becker, B. Lucke, K. Nagen, R. Mattke, D. Woestehoff, secretary-treasurer; Jeanne Diebner, J. Malquist, H. Baggs, M. Buss. Third row: A. Blue-

Ernest Hagen, Director.

Music, music and more music flowed magically over the campus all during the year as Mr. Ernest Hagen's band enjoyed a year filled with high lights.

This year's band featured the outstanding contemporary band music of America's best composers and gave the students a chance to become acquainted with contemporary music of our land other than the widely heard popular variety.

The Fine Arts Festival in the fall provided an opportunity for the Concert Band to fulfill its aim by presenting selections from Virgil Thompson and William Latham.

Also featured at the festival, was the chamber band and Castle Singers rendition of the premiere performance of Dr. Hovdesven's "Out of This Prairie."

STRIVING FOR the proper tone are members of the trombone section during a daily rehearsal in the Fine Arts Center.

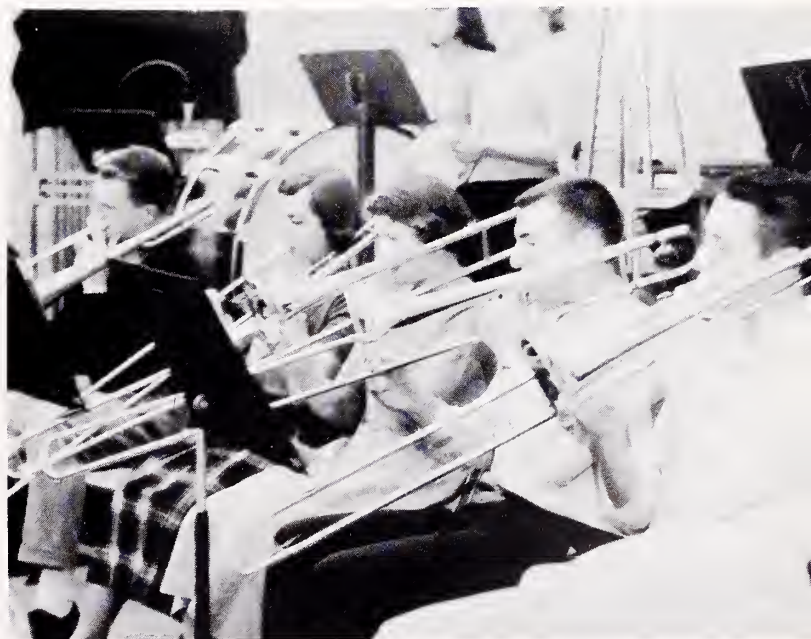

Of course, the music of the marching band enlivened the home football games, and the newly organized pep band cut loose with a lively repertoire at the basketball games.

"Christmas at Wartburg" gave the concert band an opportunity to please a vast audience with the "Nutcracker Suite," and the annual Spring Concert again was a delight to the crowd.

This year's band tour was over northeast Iowa, with the aim of attracting high school students from the surrounding area.

The added facilities of the Fine Arts Center provided new chance for music this year as small ensembles gave recitals for the first time.

Yes, it was certainly music, music, music throughout the year for the Wartburg Band.

Fine Arts Festival . . . Reflecting Leadership . . .

COMBINING FORCES with the chamber band, Castle Singers presented Dr. Hovdesven's musical setting of "Out of This Prairie" based on a poem by Carl Sandburg.

Fine Arts at Wartburg is consistently in the vanguard as the college grows and expands in all areas.

This year a new home was completed for the music and art sections of this department—a home modern, efficient and reflecting the forward-looking leadership that has guided the department's growth.

Four exciting days were set aside for a dedication festival, providing a brilliant showcase for the products of the department. Embodying two convocation programs and four evenings of concert and recital, the festival reached its thrilling climax at the dedication service on Friday afternoon.

Standing out as memorial high lights were such events as the singing on Friday afternoon of the 230-voice Wartburg Reunion Choir composed of present and past members of Wartburg Choir. Another high light was the premiere performance of Dr. E. A. Hovdesven's "Out of This Prairie" by the chamber band and the Castle Singers.

Displays by the Art Department of prize-winning collections by Iowa artists added color and richness to the new Fine Arts Center.

AS DIRECTOR of the School of Fine Arts at the State University of Iowa, Dr. Earl E. Harper was a well qualified convo speaker on the subject of "The Importance of Fine Arts."

...Providing a Brilliant Showcase

MEN OF dedication, President C. H. Becker, Mr. Walter Voecks, chairman of Board of Regents; Dr. W. F. Schmidt, chairman of Board of Higher Education; Mr. W. H. Rindsig, contractor; and Mr. C. C. Woodburn, architect, invoke the blessings of God upon the Fine Arts Center.

PROFESSOR WARREN Schmidt displays his keyboard skill in St. Paul's at an organ recital featuring a concert of Baroque music.

MISS MAI Hogan and Mrs. Joan Ramsay sing at the voice faculty recital, which opened the musical portion of the Fine Arts Festival.

Symphony Orchestra . . . Glowing Brightly

PERFORMING DELIUS' concerto, violinist Margaret Davis takes a cadenza during the combined concert of the Wartburg Symphony and the IMTA Orchestra.

Five years ago this last fall marked the birth of a new organization on the campus of Wartburg College. Conductor Ernest Hagen had formed a dream into a reality—the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra. Under his masterful baton-wielding hand the orchestra has grown rapidly in its short life.

This organization, a recipient of state-wide and national acclaim, is composed of approximately fifty-five members. One-third of these musicians are students at Wartburg College; the others are residents of Waverly and surrounding towns and cities covering a radius of sixty miles.

Each fall the group opens its season with a "Symphony of Fun," a delight for both children and adults. Two more concerts are given during the school year, and a pops concert is on the agenda for the summer months.

Last fall the orchestra was joined by the Iowa Music Teachers Association Orchestra. The combined group performed during the convention of the Iowa Music Teachers Association on the Wartburg campus.

CLIMAXING A heavy schedule of events, the Wartburg Community Symphony provided a sparkling

“Good evening. Take the middle aisle, please.” “May I have your ticket, please?”

This introduction, along with the rustle of a formal, indicates that guests of the Artist Series are being seated efficiently and rapidly by the seventy-five ushers and usherettes in Ushers Club.

In addition to Artist Series, Ushers Club also furnishes the colorful spark for many other campus activities as its members graciously welcome and seat guests at plays, concerts and similar campus productions.

Highlighting a year of voluntary service in Ushers Club is the evening when its members relax and enjoy the entertainment provided by the Artist Series Committee at the club's annual spring banquet at Club Iowa.

USHERETTES AWAIT their turn to assist Artist Series patrons.

STUDENTS AND faculty serve the Lord with praise and adoration at the annual Chi Rho Candle Lighting Service.

As the speakers stood before the microphone and looked out over the large groups of well-dressed young men seated quietly and attentively before them on those numerous Sunday afternoons, surely they must have thought to themselves, "The future ministry of the church is in good hands."

These were the meetings of Chi Rho, where the campus pre-theological students banded together for another year to seek greater fellowship with God. But these meetings were just one of the many varied activities performed by our future pastors.

Associating with each other, these young ambassadors of Christ strengthen their own aims and objectives in service to Christ and gain a reaching insight into the problems that will confront their chosen profession of the ministry.

Rendering service filled a prime position in the eyes of the good Chi Rho member. The club fulfilled this goal in many ways. It helped to maintain the cherished Christian atmosphere on campus by distributing devotional booklets through the school mail.

Christmas again this year saw the organization serve both the college and the community with the annual Candlelight Service, where the lighting of candles added inspiration to the Christmas hymns and the reading of the Word of God.

St. Paul's Church received the service of the club as members served as ushers during the school year. The sick received good cheer as teams of Chi Rho members made hospital visitations.

Both the Lutheran Children's Home and Bartels Home for the Aged received assistance in devotional programs.

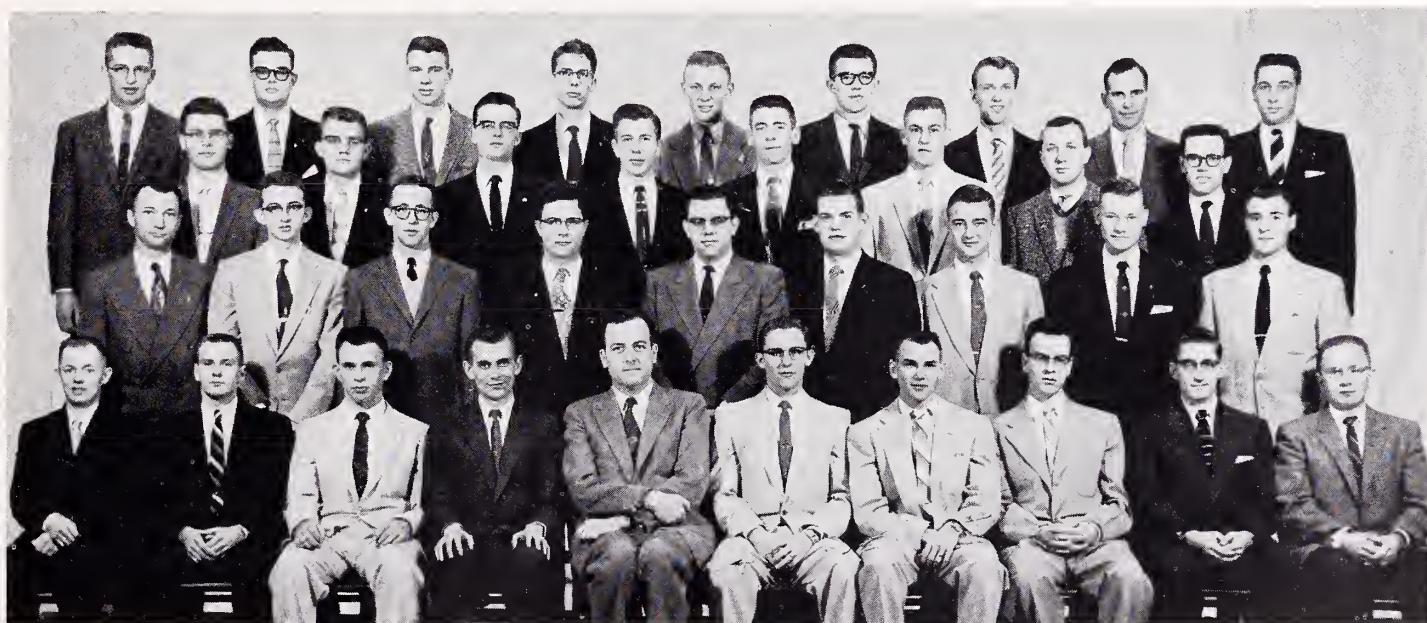

Always seeking further knowledge, Chi Rho members again engaged in their extensive program of church visitations to the various Waverly churches and churches in surrounding communities. They also visited the Wartburg Seminary in Dubuque.

"I WAS SICK, and ye visited me . . . " Milt Ost combines service with practical training as he participates in the Chi Rho weekly hospital visitation program.

Luther League . . . Built to Serve All

Freshmen and new students became acquainted with Luther League very early in the school year when they attended the annual get-acquainted party which it sponsored, providing fun and food for all. Although campus interest slackened, a nucleus of Leaguers, by means of a panel discussion, worked on a project to enlarge the work of this religious organization.

A new and pleasant manner of meeting was found in the form of the fellowship supper.

These were held in the private dining room, one featuring an informal talk on the church convention by our college president.

The Luther League has also co-operated with the other religious organizations in providing their part toward the evening devotions over KWAR. With progress, though seemingly slight, it is hoped that an organization can be built to serve all, but especially for the future lay people of the church.

Mission Fellowship . . . Witnessing to Others

Before His ascension, Christ left with His disciples the missionary command to "go into all the world and preach the Gospel." (Mark 14:15). Men throughout the ages have tried to fulfill these words. Some have gone into unexplored continents, and others have witnessed to the unchurched about them.

In a Christian college and especially in an organization dedicated to mission work, this command takes on special significance. Mission Fellowship has tried to help other lands this year by sending CARE packages to oppressed people, scrapbooks to foreign mission schools and postage stamps to the Bethel Mission in Germany.

With regular projects of KWAR devotions and county home visitations as well as the sponsoring of such speakers as Missionaries Alden, Pietz and Friberg, the group has fulfilled the command to witness to others.

BRINGING JOY and consolation to the aged on their weekly visits to the Bartels Home for the Aged fulfills part of the Mission Fellowship goal.

Phebes . . . Student Parish Workers

"I commend to you our sister Phebe." From this statement of St. Paul recorded in Romans 16:1, the organization of student parish workers at Wartburg College derived its name. These Phebes have adopted a program of service to the college and community, just as the first century Phebe served her church.

Projects such as hospital visitations, shut-in visitations, playing for chapel, hymnal repairs, Bible discussions, poster making, KWAR devotions and county home visitations have been their hobbies for many years. This year they also sold Christmas cards, and several times they met with Chi Rho to hear special speakers.

PHEBES CHRISTMAS party at Miss Lohn's begins with devotions read by Kathryn Koob while Irene Stier and Henrietta Boehme listen attentively.

Passavant Club . . . Interest in Social Work

PASSAVANT CLUB—Front row: G. Scrivner, J. Walters, C. Reisetter, secretary-treasurer; M. Baehler. Back row: Mrs. Lola Reppert, adviser; F. Anderson, N. Remmers, W. Striepe, president; Gordon Hanson, vice president.

A revived organization on the Warburg campus this year, the Passavant Club established a program of future importance for all students interested in the field of social work.

The club's name is taken from an individual, the Reverend William A. Passavant, a pioneer in the deaconess movement of the Lutheran Church in America. The deaconess and social work movements, however, have since attained a more public aspect in their development.

Goals of the organization center upon an increasing knowledge of current social problems, understanding of related fields of social improvement and a search for better understanding of human beings.

Future plans for the club include benefits of outside speakers at their monthly meetings, a number of field trips for personal experience and a necessary amount of social activity and recreation.

Big Brothers-Sisters . . . Aiding the Children

GLORIA SCHLANGE and Elaine Schneider take time out from their college activities to take their "little sisters" from the Children's Home window shopping.

"Be a Friend" might well be the motto of this organization established in cooperation with the Waverly Lutheran Children's Home.

The Big Brother and Sister Club is organized to give the children a chance to develop relationships with new personalities, to inspire their confidence in adults and to show them a good time.

Two of the high lights of this year's program were the winter roller-skating party and the spring picnic enjoyed by both the children and their Big Brothers and Sisters.

PMB . . . Devotion to the Lord's Work

MEMBERS OF ONE of Wartburg's Parish Mission Builders teams, Doug Soley, Valeria Johnson, Joan Olman DeWeerth and Harry Hinrichs look forward to greater goals in Him.

Complete devotion to the Lord's work may well characterize last summer's experience of the nine Wartburg students who served the American Lutheran Church in its second consecutive program of Parish Mission Builders. Working in various communities in the United States, these students had many opportunities to witness for Christ as they made survey and evangelism calls.

Experiences in this challenging task of spreading Christ's gospel have also included radio programs given over leading stations in various cities. Programs were also given within congregations as Parish Mission Builders entertained, organized and prepared church members for greater service to Christ.

Certainly the seeds of Christianity have been sown along many paths by active and devoted Parish Mission Builders.

Work and study, spiced with recreation and many pleasant memories, sum up the experiences of these workers.

OTHER PARISH MISSION Builders who find that the dedication of one of their summers did much to deepen their faith are Charles Bichel, Gloria Schlange, Myrin Bentz, Karen Dettmer and Wayne Weissenbuehler.

"And furthermore, I LIKE IKE because he . . ." These were the words used this year by more than one speaker, not only to Wartburg Young Republicans but to Republicans in all the forty-eight states. Their effect was recognized when on November 6, Dwight D. Eisenhower was re-elected as the President of the United States by the startling landslide of 457 electoral votes to 74 for Adlai Stevenson.

Monthly meetings of the Wartburg GOP saw speakers and films as the main method of informing its members of the campaign and party issues. A "Get Out the Vote" drive was also sponsored, with posters and "Ike" buttons used to publicize the election.

"RE-ELECT Ike and Dick." This slogan echoed throughout the Presidential Campaign, and the Homecoming float of the Young Republicans was no exception.

Could there be a future John D. Rockefeller or a budding Andrew Carnegie hiding in quiet anonymity in the halls of Wartburg? If there is, chances are you'll find him attending the meetings of the Business Student Association, where he puts aside his Wall Street Journal long enough to talk business with other interested students.

This young club, only in its second year, assists the Business Administration Department in the hope of instilling a better insight into the professional problems of the future businessman.

Discussions led by outstanding businessmen of the area provide valuable information to club members.

"Johnny has been very bad today—I don't think I can teach him a thing! What can I do about him?"

No one can deny the fact that teachers of tomorrow's Johnnies and Susies need to be well-equipped to solve problems like this one. Questions like this and many others pertaining to teaching are discussed with Wartburg's future teachers through the Future Teacher Association.

Through active affiliation with regional, state and national associations, Wartburg's masters and mistresses of tomorrow's schools are given professional opportunities to prepare for their task. Keeping abreast of current trends in education is one aim which is accomplished through current literature, such as Midland Schools and the NEA Journal. Regional and state conventions provide a

... Teachers with Professional Experience

"melting pot" of educational as well as teaching experiences.

With the leadership of Miss Stella Austerud and Dr. Herbert Max, FTA presents interesting and varied programs to its members. Mr. Don Birdsell, principal of the Waverly High School, opened this year's activities with a lecture-discussion of "Discipline," an old topic but one which, nevertheless, remains a vexing problem to teachers.

The program on "Cerebral Palsy" proved another worth-while experience, as a patient of the disease himself explained the social effects it has on the individual.

With interesting and helpful programs, and through current literature, FTA seeks to provide teachers with professional experiences aimed at improving future teachers. Each year at Wartburg, FTA brings with it a new program, new student teachers and a continuing challenge to meet the great demand. But with each year comes the realization that Wartburg chapter has moved a step closer in that direction.

With the Big-Little Sister program, freshman lasses are welcomed as Wartburg women when Pi Sigma launches into another year of activities. Already during the first week of school, social graces are exhibited during the official greeting to new Wartburg women at the Get-Acquainted Tea.

Pi Sig meetings spell out evenings of new explorations into the social realm of knowledge and are spiced by fun, relaxation and new friendships. Dress for various social activities, social etiquette, original Christmas gift ideas and clever gift wrappings furnished the “salt” for Pi Sig programs this year.

Uniting Wartburg women in “one body and one spirit” is the theme which penetrates all Pi Sig activities from its formal initiation to the pancake breakfast at the riverside.

This year the Camera Club, for its main project, took pictures of Homecoming events and made and sold the prints to interested students.

Besides instruction in the developing of film and the printing of pictures, monthly meetings included guest speakers and field trips designed to inform members of various means and methods of extending their hobby. A special effort was made to interest all students in photography by emphasizing the practicability and usefulness of the ordinary box camera.

At the October meeting, Ross Nielsen from Iowa State Teachers College illustrated the effectiveness of polls.

During the year, Dr. Lloyd G. K. Carr of the Wartburg Chemistry Department, and Dr. VanderWerf, an outstanding U. S. Chemist from Kansas University, were also featured speakers.

In addition, the Science Club held its annual spring informal banquet and went on several field trips. Dr. John Chellevold, head of the Mathematics Department, served as adviser, this position rotating each year through the four branches of science.

“Eeeeeeeek!” “Who turned the hose on Nancy?” Well, now we’re all wet, but having loads of fun on the WAA car-wash project, carried on for financial purposes. Last fall sixty-eight cars were washed by the girls.

Of course, the purpose of the Women’s Athletic Association is not to have water fights, but to provide recreation for Wartburg women. Tournaments in badminton, ping-pong, volleyball, basketball, softball and tennis were held. Other activities included tumbling, performing on the trampoline and bowling.

As an additional activity, Luther and Upper Iowa were guests of the Wartburg WAA for a Spring Playday.

EVEN THOUGH the landings aren’t perfect, the WAA girls have fun learning the art of trampolining.

After tying favored Upper Iowa in the season's opener, Wartburg looked forward to a successful football season, but injuries and inexperience took their toll, and the Knights ended with a 0-7-1 record.

Highlighting the season, however, was the dedication of the new all-steel athletic stadium at the Luther game on November 10. With the completion of the stadium, Wartburg football finally moved to a permanent home on the campus after its years at Waverly Municipal Field.

Traditional foe Luther proved uncooperative at the inaugural game and took away some of the glamour of the dedication by outmanning the luckless Knights 34-12.

A few whims of lady luck early in the year ruined Warburg chances to get off to a good start. The Knights completely dominated their games with Upper Iowa and Iowa Wesleyan and played on even terms with Buena Vista, but the best they could salvage in the three encounters was the tie with Upper Iowa.

Only a 70-yard run with a recovered fourth-quarter fumble allowed Upper Iowa to catch the Knights, and a long, wind-blown punt set up the winning touchdown in the Wesleyan contest. A few early-season breaks in favor of the Knights could have changed the complexion of the entire season.

Art Margheim completed his successful career as Coach Norman Johansen's quarterback by being nominated to the all-conference second team for the second time. He also racked up enough yardage to be credited with over a mile gained in his Wartburg career. Margheim was also selected to the all-conference first team in his junior season.

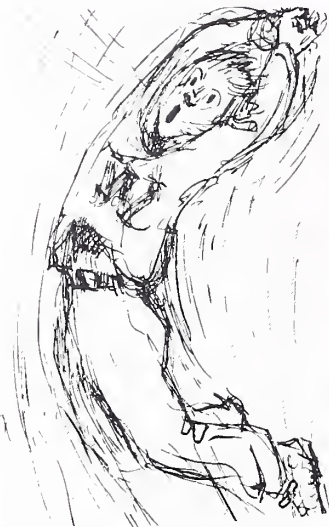

Two outstanding senior linemen, Al Limberg and Bob Keister, gained honorable mention in the conference selections along with sophomores Paul Schlachtenhaufen and Darwin Fritz.

Keister was slowed during the season by recurring injuries, and Margheim, Fritz and Limberg were all hampered by late-season injuries.

Cheerleaders . . . Urging Knights to Victory

CHEERLEADERS, JOYCE Speicher, Beverly Shreve, Harvey Jaeger, Betty A. Meyer and Helen Schwerin, still wearing victory smiles, take a rest following the game.

Our cheerleaders were chosen from the student body for their interest in school spirit and their willingness to urge the Knights on to victory. Turning the mumbling roar of voices into a distinct "Rah! Yea! Knights!" is only part of their job.

Included also are jumping, yelling and turning cart wheels, at the same time shouting with the hope that they will be outshouted.

Five cheerleaders, presenting sportsmanship at its finest—whether at home or away, in good weather or bad, they prepare the way for the orange and black. Whether organizing a cheering section or a pep rally, they represent the living spirit of Wartburg, fighting to the very end.

GIVING THE cue for the fight song, the cheerleaders lead the team onto the floor.

ALSO ENCOURAGING THE Knights to victory are substitute cheerleaders Evie Goldenman and Beverly Heuns.

WAITING AND READY are Maynard Midtgaard and John Adix while Al Bahlmann attempts to recover a loose ball.

Compiling a total of nineteen wins during the season, ten consecutively, this year's Knight cagers smashed two school win records and enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in Wartburg's history.

The total victory score of nineteen was a new school record, surpassing the old season mark of sixteen. The record of ten straight victories also eclipsed the school mark of nine in a row.

An Iowa Conference record of 12-4 gave the Knights a tie for second place with Parsons. Upper Iowa's Peacocks copped the conference crown with a 13-3 record.

Climaxing the successful season for the Knights was the acceptance of a bid to participate in the newly organized NCAA small college basketball tournament.

Coach Ax Bundgaard led his charges against Regis College at Denver, Colorado, in the first round of the tournament. The rugged Rangers, who had played on even terms with some of the nation's leading teams during the regular season, found the Knights potent opposition, but they finally pulled out an 88-82 victory in the final minutes.

THE WOES OF COACHING fall upon Ax Bundgaard as he finds the game is not progressing as he would like to see it.

In the first Wartburg-Iowa State Teachers College joint-sponsored holiday tournament the Knights routed Mankato Teachers of Minnesota 78-60 in the opener. Red hot Iowa Teachers then spilled the Knights in the finals by a 91-74 count.

Wartburg cagers had started the season in fine form, soundly racking three tough non-conference rivals, Augsburg, Cornell and Loras. Non-conference opposition suffered Knight woes all season long, as Iowa Teachers was the only non-conference team to down Wartburg until Regis turned the trick in the finale.

Upper Iowa was the chief nemesis for the Knights, downing them three times en route to the conference championship. The first Upper Iowa contest was one of the most heart-breaking of the season when the Peacocks snapped out of their early season doldrums to upend the Knights on a last second shot, 76-74.

The conference championship was not decided until the final crucial night of the season at Fayette, when a large throng of visiting Knight fans groaned as their team suffered a frigid evening and lost the championship shot, 76-65.

Senior guard Art Margheim became the second Wartburg player to go over the coveted 1,000-point mark in career scoring. Margheim amassed 390 more points to his total this year on his way to all-conference honors.

Coach Bob Campbell's Squires completed a successful season with a respectable won-lost mark of 11-5.

Playing a crisp brand of basketball against freshman and "B" squads of opposing schools and against strong independent teams from northeast Iowa, the Squires showed real potential as future varsity material.

Fans who watched the preliminary games came away with the impression that the Squires possessed height, speed and shooting ability, being short only on experience.

Sophomore Jim Schwarz dazzled the home fans with a brilliant shooting exhibition in the second Iowa Teachers freshman game when he fired 42 points through the hoop.

Wartburg wrestlers posted an impressive season record of nine victories against only one loss.

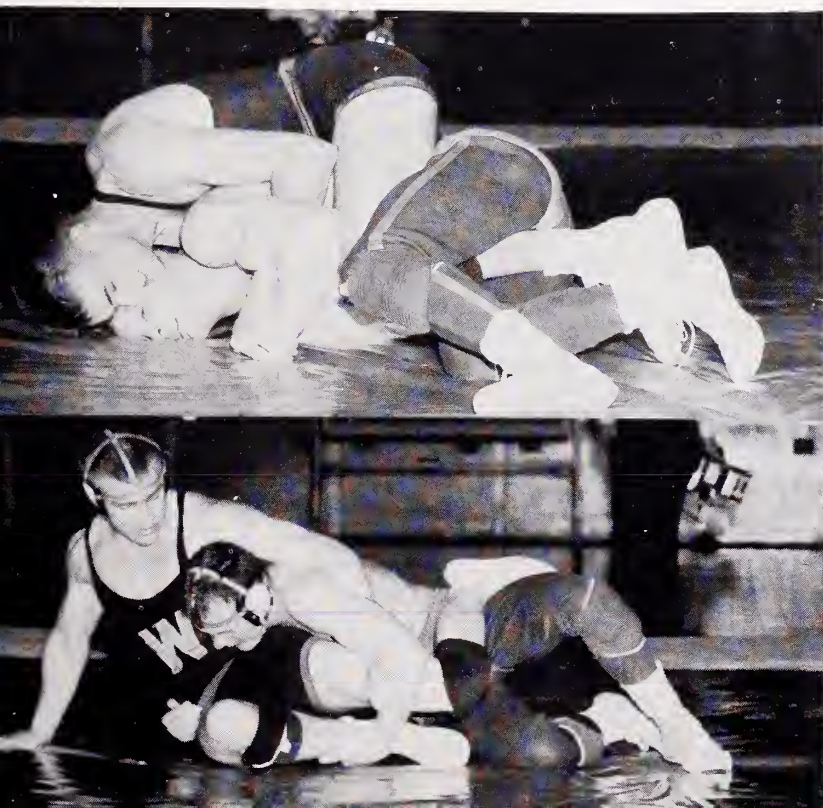

Dubuque University was the only team able to pin a loss on the Knight grapplers, turning the trick 14-12.

Arnie Brandt, Knight standout 177-pounder, rolled through another undefeated dual meet season.

Brandt's dual meet record for his career stands at twenty-seven victories and no defeats.

The Knights racked up several one-sided victories, and the twenty-six points scored in the Augustana and Grinnell meets set a new team scoring record.

High lights of the season included the pitching of Fred Jaspers, who reached his peak in the season's final against undefeated conference champion, Upper Iowa, only to be edged, 3-1.

Longest game of the year was a grueling 16-13 extra inning loss to Iowa Teachers on the local diamond. Teachers also won in a 10-6 slugfest at Cedar Falls, to account for both of the Knights' non-conference losses.

Track . . . All Hopes Dashed

Wartburg tracksters, minus most of last year's stars, were unable to gain a single victory in the cinder sport. The Knights lost dual meets to Iowa State Teachers College, Grinnell and Luther.

With Coach Bob Campbell at the helm for his first year, Knight runners managed to salvage a second position in a triangular meet with Loras and St. Ambrose.

Hoping to repeat last year's surprising second-place finish in the Iowa Conference meet, the trackmen traveled to Pella, only to end up in a disappointing sixth place by scoring just 19 points.

Cross-Country . . . Newest School Sport

Cross-country took its place this year as the newest sport in the school record books, with Coach Bob Campbell at the reins.

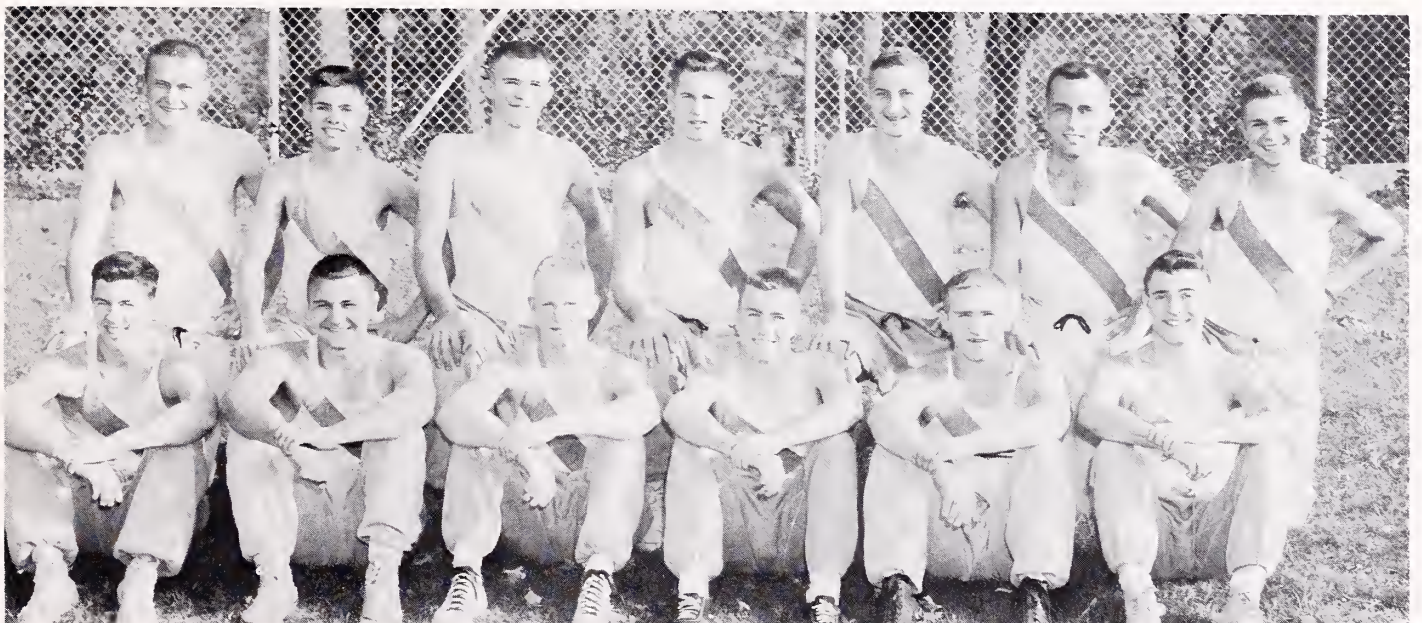

Campbell's distance men were unable to score a victory in their initial season, but valuable experience was gained in three losses to Luther, Iowa State Teachers College and Dubuque.

Prospects for better things to come are almost a certainty, as most of this year's squad was composed of underclassmen, including several freshmen, who should provide a solid nucleus for coming seasons.

Battling against rugged competition, bad weather and a mid-season injury that took away their Number One player, the Wartburg netmen compiled a creditable record of three wins and four losses.

Bob Cornwell paced the team from the number one position early in the season, but he was forced out of the final two matches and the conference tournament by an injured back.

Bill Thalacker, Les Huth, Stan Vogel, Fritz Fritschel and Jack Warber were the other regulars for the campaign. Vogel climaxed the year's activity by placing second in the Iowa Conference singles tournament.

“Never a dull moment” might well describe dorm life. There is the never-ending chatter of freshmen who don’t know the meaning of the word “study.” And then there are the evening gatherings in your room where the talk flows freely, especially when you want to study.

Too little sleep is often the greatest complaint, but the fun and fellowship are often worth the sacrifice. Ask anyone who is living or has lived in a dorm, and he will tell you that life there is great, sometimes nerve-racking, but great.

it's downright humorous at times."

"Yeah, I know. I like it, too. Matter of fact, I'm even enjoying it."

"Well, if someone had told me the day would come when I actually admitted enjoying opera, I would have laughed. But now, they'd be right. This is tremendous."

CONFUSION REIGNS as the main characters of the opera theater express their opinions vocally concerning the marriage mix-ups.

"LISTEN CLOSELY," says Boris Goldovsky as he jokes with the main characters of his cast after their performance November 20, 1956.

Vienna Octet . . . Essence of Chamber Music

BACKSTAGE BEFORE their performance, members of the octet tune their instruments.

MUSIC LOVERS come from miles around as the Vienna Octet presents an evening of music unexcelled.

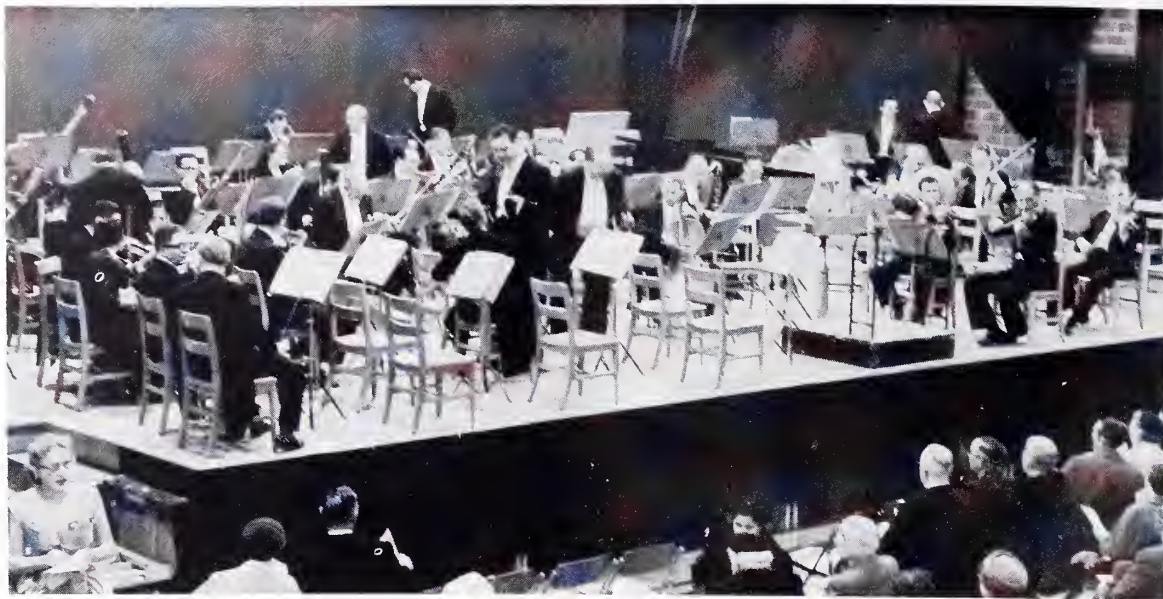

It's called the Artist Series, and at no time did it live up to its name more than on January 27 when the Vienna Octet performed in Knights Gymnasium. Presenting a concert of chamber music, the eight musicians demonstrated to the audience that they were truly artists in the most artistic sense.

Although each is a virtuoso, their playing reflected the essence of chamber music—a closely knit unity. For the Artist Series goer, this concert represented one of the more intellectually stimulating experiences the series has offered and will be long remembered as an evening of fine entertainment.

MUSICAL PERFECTION comes to Wartburg in the form of the Vienna Octet on January 26, 1957.

Boston Pops . . . Fourth Time in Five Years

CONVERSATION, TUNING of instruments and arranging of music seem to occupy Pops members prior to the concert of classical, semi-classical and popular numbers.

At the desk of the Public Relations office, a secretary folds news releases.

"At Wartburg, February 15—in person—the Boston Pops—Arthur Fiedler conducting—featuring Ruth Slenczynska as piano soloist—fourth time at Wartburg in five years—varied program—classical, semi-classical—pop tunes—Handel's Water Music—My Fair Lady—Look Sharp, Be Sharp—only appearance in Iowa."

And as she worked, she thought of the first time she had heard the Pops—how they never seemed to change—unless they got better each time they came.

AUTOGRAPH SEEKER Mary Jo Logan obtains Arthur Fiedler's signature following the long-awaited Boston Pops concert.

WITH MUSIC AS the subject of conversation, piano soloist Ruth Slenczynska chats with Wartburg band director Ernest Hagen.

Bar-Illian . . . Enthralled Audience

PROVING HIS natural artistic talents, David Bar-Illian presents a concert of melodies by such composers as Schubert, Saler and Chopin.

Before the massiveness of the Steinway Grand sits a short young man. He lifts his hands, and the piano begins to breathe out the sounds of the world's great music. David Bar-Illian is appearing on the Wartburg Artist Series.

And the audience sat enthralled that February night as the spell bound them closer to the music and the pianist.

Marjorie Newsom

. . . Flowing Melodies

Flowing melodies resounded through Knights Gymnasium December 2 as harpist Marjorie Newsom was heard on the Wartburg Specialty Series.

Siberian folk melodies, Broadway tunes and classical numbers—these and others formed the program as the shimmering strings of the harp came alive in the rich vibrant music of the angelic instrument.

SCOTTISH, ENGLISH and Italian folk numbers were included in the brilliant performance of harpist Marjorie Newsom in Knights Gymnasium.
